

REVOCATION OF BAR LICENSES IS CALLED FOR

Drastic Action Has Been Taken Against Ray Podewell And Mrs Margaret Walrath, Landlady Of Union House,

BY CITY ATTORNEY H. L. MAXFIELD

Common Council, Seemingly, Will Have No Choice In The Matter---If Parties Are Put Out Of Business They Cannot Secure New Permits Until After The Lapse Of A Year.

In complaints addressed to the common council and filed with City Clerk Hader this afternoon, City Attorney H. L. Maxfield has taken steps which must necessarily, so it seems, lead to the revocation of the saloon licenses for Ray W. Podewell's establishment at 15 North Academy street and the hostelry on North First street known as the Union House and conducted by Mrs. Margaret Walrath. Whenever a saloon-keeper violates any of the police regulations for his government and a taxpayer demands that his license be forfeited, the common council has no choice in the matter, providing that the case against the offender has been established by a conviction in court. In a recent case at Madison the council refused to revoke the license of a liquor dealer who had been found guilty of selling after hours and when the circuit court issued a writ of mandamus directing such action an appeal was taken by the interested parties to the supreme court. The high tribunal sustained the action of the lower one and compelled the revocation of the permit.

Podewell Complaint
The Podewell complaint and petition reads as follows:
"State of Wisconsin,
County of Rock,
City of Janesville.
"To the Honorable Mayor and Members of the Common Council of the City of Janesville:—Gentlemen:
"As a resident taxpayer and City Attorney of Janesville I hereby call the attention of and complain to your honorable body that a liquor license was granted by the common council of the city of Janesville to Ray W. Podewell of the said city on the 6th day of July, 1908, to sell intoxicating liquors at No. 15 North Academy street in the said city; that he did, on the 13th day of March, 1909, at the said city of Janesville and on the premises in which he was authorized by his said license to sell intoxicating liquors, keep and maintain a gambling device which was used for gambling purposes; that on a complaint duly made by George Angely, Chief of Police of said city, the said Ray W. Podewell was arrested and brought before the municipal court of the said city of Janesville, to answer to a charge of keeping and maintaining the said gambling device as aforesaid in violation of Ordinance Nos. 119, 145, and 170; and that on the said 13th day of March, 1909, and on his plea of guilty, said Ray W. Podewell was convicted by the said court of having kept and maintained a gambling device as aforesaid and was sentenced to pay a fine by the said court for the said violation.
"I therefore pray that a summons be issued by the common council of the said city of Janesville, signed by the city clerk and directed as prescribed by law, commanding the said Ray W. Podewell so complained of to appear before the said common council at a time and place to be named in the said summons, as provided by law, and show cause why the license so issued to him, as aforesaid, should not be revoked.
"Dated March 20, 1909.
"H. L. MAXFIELD,
"City Attorney."

Likewise the Union House
The complaint against the Union House bar which is managed under the direction of Mrs. Margaret Walrath, is couched in similar terms. It charges that she was convicted of selling liquor on Sunday, Jan. 23, 1909, in violation of the Sunday ordinance and prays that she be summoned before the council to show cause why her license should not be revoked.
First Drastic Action
This is the first move along the line of drastic action against ordinance-violating saloons that has been taken in this community since the new law went into effect some years ago. Though the City Attorney refused to be interviewed regarding the scope of his intentions, it was possible to draw certain inferences and conclusions from a conversation with him. It does not appear that he is starting any crusade against saloons, as such, but only that he is persuaded that two in question, and one or two others, constitute an actual menace to the welfare of the community and should be abolished. Developments will be awaited with considerable interest.

NEXT WEEK WILL BE EXCEEDINGLY BUSY

Legislature Will Have Much to Do to Finish Up the Bills Sent In

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., March 20.—The investigation of the insurance department which was planned some time ago by the joint committee on finance, banks and insurance to be made by Senator J. T. Fairchild and Assemblyman M. J. Cleary will probably be completed next week. This sub-committee of two members have had a few conferences and have investigated some of the details and will probably be ready to render a report to the joint committee on finance, banks and insurance early next week.

One of the members of the committee said today before the legislature adjourned at noon until Tuesday that as soon as the report was made to the committee it would be reported to the legislature. It is understood that the investigation has revealed little of anything of great interest regarding the conduct of affairs in the office of insurance Commissioner George B. Needles.

But the application of former Deputy M. W. White had not with more direct results in that suits are now pending for the collection of fees retained by former insurance commissioners. Out of the complaint grew an agitation for the prosecution of all of the former commissioners, but it was later discovered that these actions were limited to ten years past. Attorney General Gilbert has since instituted a suit against Earl O'Hanlon who it is alleged collected about $10,000 in fees during his term. This is a test case and should it result favorable to the state actions will be maintained against former insurance Commissioner Zeno M. Host and George B. Needles.

When the legislature convenes next Tuesday it is planned to work for ten days as the legislature has not in the past. Many important committee hearings will be held and an effort will be made to report out a large number of bills that the separate committees on each house may yet have. Not many senate bills have reached the assembly committee as yet, but a number are expected this week.

The trial was practically a re-trial of the murder case.

THE WELCOMING OF SPRING.

STEAMSHIP BRAKE WILL BE TESTED

Device Invented by Louis Lacoste of Montreal to Be Tried by Navy Department.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., March 20.—If the weather and other conditions are favorable a test is to be made today by direction of the navy department of the steamship brake invented by Louis Lacoste of Montreal. The test will be made on the battleship Indiana in Delaware bay and the results will be awaited with interest in naval and marine circles.

The invention of the Montreal man is designed to stop a vessel suddenly. It consists of one steel wing about four by fourteen feet long, hinged on each side of the ship a little forward of midships. The wings are operated from the bridge of the vessel. When released they spring out, furnishing resistance to the forward movement of the vessel. It is asserted by the inventor that the brake will not only prevent collisions but will allow more complete control of a vessel in narrow waters.

EDUCATED PRESENT ATTORNEY-GENERAL

Mrs. Moore of Madison Had Charge of Mr. Wickarham's Preliminary Training.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., March 20.—In this city lives an elderly woman of scholarly attainments and a temperance and of considerable note in the world of letters for her writings and translations in the field of musical criticism. She was the first teacher of the orphan boy who has attained to the office of attorney general of the United States, George W. Wickarham, nephew of Ambrose Woodward Moore of Madison, by whom the present legal head of the federal department of law was brought up after the death of his parents, takes occasion to acknowledge the debt he owes to this interesting woman of music and letters out here personally. Mrs. Moore was a sister of J. J. Woodward of Philadelphia, grandfather of Mr. Wickarham. When he was a baby, owing to the death of his parents, she personally gave him his early education. To this training is accorded the attorney general's remarkable powers as a student, which characterize him today more than oratorical ability. The aunt caused him to be sent to Lehigh university when he graduated from her tutelage.

Mrs. Moore was married in this city in 1887 to Samuel H. Moore. She is a special writer for the State Journal, being well known for her incisive criticisms of musical events and musicians, and has gained wide fame as a translator of musical works. Her translations are particularly from Scandinavian authors, in which field of translation she is a pioneer in this country. A considerable number of books by her pen have been published with success, among them, "To My Musical Friend," "For Every Music Lover," "Cliches from the Midland," and others.

COUNTY OPTION BILL UP NEXT

SENATE COMMITTEE WILL CONSIDER MEASURE ON TUESDAY.

OTHER IMPORTANT MEASURES

Next Week Promises to Be a Busy One for the Members of the Legislature.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Madison, Wis., March 20.—The most important committee hearing of the week will occur Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, when the senate committee on state affairs takes up the March county option bill. Hundreds of petitions have already been received by the legislature and during the coming week hundreds for and against the bill will be presented. It is said that the Milwaukee brewers will send out a large delegation and that practically every brewery in the state will be represented by some law firm. The anti-alcohol league has not been asleep and Attorney John P. Baker and others will present evidence to the committee in favor of the bill. So important is the hearing, it is believed it will have to be extended into the evening.

On Thursday of next week the joint committee on roads and bridges will take up the question of state aid to highways. Since the legislature has decreed that the question of highway aid can be considered at the present session and does not need a special investigation, the bills of Assemblyman Jones of Sparta and Senator Browne of Waupesa have been noted for hearing. The two bills represent two opposite ideas. Mr. Jones would create a highway commission and let the amount of road funds constructed annually. Senator Browne's bill would leave a large share of the highway work in the hands of the state geologist's survey. It is probable that some modifications will be made and that a bill presenting the combined ideas will be adopted and recommended.

The bill to compel each county to establish a work house where inmates must be broken by the prisoners will be given a hearing by the committee on manufacture and labor of the assembly next Tuesday. The Leidy bill to have the industrial commission gather data on the health and vitality of laborers in factories will be given a hearing next Friday and the charitable and penal institution bills of appropriation will be heard next Wednesday.

To Take Time.
Speaker Bancroft is going to take his time about selecting the four assembly members for each of the four committees created by the legislature last week to consider the questions of guaranty of bank deposits; working men's insurance; income tax and water power franchise.

"I do not intend to decide upon the membership to those committees hastily," said Speaker Bancroft last night. "I must have time to study the membership with such an important task as these men have on their hands. I shall select men who are the best able to serve the prime considerations being merit and fitness. I want to get the men who are interested in the various subjects, who will study the questions and who will be able to report bills to this legislature practically ready for passage."

There would be any announcement of the membership next week, as he thought it would take fully ten days to consider the matter of membership. The resolution provides for the appointment of twenty-eight men from the legislature on these committees. On each committee there will be three senate members and four assembly members.

Annual Holiday.
Lincoln's birthday will probably be made an annual holiday in this state. Early in the week the lower house killed a bill to make Feb. 12 a legal holiday on odd numbered years. This bill was revived yesterday by Assemblyman Reilly and Speaker Lincoln declared that he would favor a legal holiday. His suggestion the bill has been referred to a committee and it will be reported on next Wednesday for passage. The only objection to the bill is that it gives school children two holidays in the month of February. Endorsed by the several soldier members of the legislature, it seems probable that the idea will be enacted into law.

SPRING OFFICIALLY ARRIVES TOMORROW

Sun Will Enter Aries at One O'clock in the Morning—The Vernal Equinox Is at Hand.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

According to the almanacs and the weather bureau, the spring of 1909 will be ushered in at 1 o'clock tomorrow morning. At this time the sun will enter Aries, and, according to meteorology, thus it is that spring is here, where the temperature be at the zero point or sizzling hot up in the nineties. At the same period comes what is popularly known as the equinoctial storm. Twentieth century scientists, however, say that there is no such thing as the "equinoctial storm," which, they declare, is a designation given to the heaviest storm that happens to occur within a few weeks of the date of the equinox which is the time the sun is passing over the line. It is also explained that while the sun is in the equinox the days and nights are of equal length all over the world. At the very end of spring the sun is passing from south to north, and in the northern hemisphere the days are lengthening.

EXPEDITION TO START TUESDAY

ROOSEVELT PARTY READY FOR THE VOYAGE.

TO BE ABSENT TWO YEARS

Hunters and Scientists Will Proceed First to Naples and Thence to East Coast of Africa.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Objective point of expedition—British East Africa.
Probable duration of trip—One year.
Object of expedition—Scientific research, collecting specimens and hunting.
Patron of Expedition—The Smithsonian Institution, Washington, D. C.
Personnel—Theodore Roosevelt, Kermit Roosevelt, official photographer; J. Alden Loring, field naturalist of the National Museum; Major A. Mearns, U. S. A., vet., physician; Edmund Heller, assistant curator, Museum of Vertebrate Zoology, California university, naturalist; J. Cunningham, naturalist, hunter and guide.

New York, March 20.—Piled up at the dock of the German liner "Hamburg," now making ready to sail for the Mediterranean next Tuesday, March 22, is a respectable number of boxes, mysterious looking cases and even queerer looking bundles, all of which represent the outfit of the scientific hunting expedition headed by ex-President Theodore Roosevelt, which will sail with the "Hamburg" on the first stage of its long trip to British East Africa.

The arrangements for the trip at this end have been practically completed and all members of the expedition are fully ready for their departure at a moment's notice. The arrangements at the other, the African end, are rapidly progressing and will be completed long before the party headed by Mr. Roosevelt reaches Nombassa, the starting point of the hunting and exploring trip on the east coast of Africa. It is Cunningham, the English naturalist, hunter and guide, who has been in Africa for several months; attending to the details of the preparations for the trip into the interior, will have the required camping outfit, provisions and carriers ready by the time the other members of the expedition come to join him.

The expedition, the principal object of which is to obtain specimens of the large and small animals inhabiting central Africa and rapidly becoming scarce with the progress of civilization in those regions. These specimens will be shot by Mr. Roosevelt and the other members of the expedition, temporarily prepared and cured for shipment and are intended later to become part of the collection of the National Museum in Washington. The expedition is sent out under the auspices of the Smithsonian Institution, which has engaged the scientific members of the party and furnished the necessary supplies, apparatus, instruments and chemicals for the preparation and preservation of the specimens. Mr. Roosevelt and his son have joined the expedition principally for the sake of the interesting experience and the pleasure they expect to derive from hunting big game in the fastnesses of central African forests and plains.

The steamer "Hamburg," with the Roosevelt party on board, will sail next Tuesday noon from New York and will take the members of the expedition to Naples. The personnel of the expedition includes ex-President Roosevelt, his son Kermit, who interrupted his studies at Harvard to accompany the expedition as its official photographer; Major Edgar A. Mearns, U. S. A., vet., an old and well known ornithologist and well known to the Smithsonian Institution; J. Alden Loring, a distinguished zoologist with great experience as a field naturalist; Edmund Heller, assistant curator of the Museum of Vertebrate Zoology at the California university, also noted as an explorer and naturalist; and R. J. Cunningham, an Englishman, who has gathered much valuable experience as a hunter and collector of zoological specimens in central Africa and is thoroughly acquainted with the territory to be traversed by the expedition.

After a short rest in Naples the members of the expedition will continue their sea voyage by the German East Africa line steamer "Admiral" for Kilindini Harbor, Nombassa Island. They expect to reach Nombassa on April 21. There they will be joined by Mr. Cunningham and the native carriers. The entire party will travel by rail to Nairobi on the Uganda railway. From that point they will strike out into the jungle in pursuit of game and specimens. After six months the expedition expects to reach Port Florence and Victoria Nyanza, whence they will proceed in slow trips toward the Nile, expecting to reach Khartoum in April of next year. After that Mr. Roosevelt, together with Mrs. Roosevelt and Miss Ethel, will spend about one year in travel in Europe before they return to the United States.

GAG ON THE TARIFF TALK

Five-Minute Rule May Prevail in House.

HOPE TO RUSH PAYNE BILL

Republicans and Democrats Lining Up for Battle Over Country's Revenue Measure—Mann Blocks Sims Motion to Place It on Passage.

Washington, Mar. 20.—That the five-minute rule may be adopted for the debates on the tariff bill now seems likely. There is a general disposition in the house to eliminate as far as possible academic discussion of the tariff.

When the Dingley bill was before congress, less than a week was devoted in the house to the discussion of the bill under the five-minute rule, and while it is likely that a rule will be brought in to limit the time for considering amendments, it is believed that sufficient time will be allowed for the consideration of the whole bill under the five-minute rule.

Preparing for Amendments.

Members of both sides are lining up and preparing to submit amendments to the sections of the bill in which their constituents are interested. The main contention is to be over the cut made in the duty on lumber. It is understood that the southern representatives are almost unanimously in favor of retaining the present duty of two dollars a thousand feet. They will have the support of many members from the northwest and Pacific coast states.

For four and a half hours the house yesterday listened to the reading of the bill, which was concluded. It was the only business transacted. It was perhaps the dreariest legislative session of any held by that body in recent years. Some of the members early in the reading took to the cloakrooms and lobby back of the speaker's desk, while others left the building for the day.

Slime Injects Some Life.

Mr. Sims of Tennessee injected a breath of life into the proceedings. He wanted the reading of the bill dispensed with as a farce, but objection was made. Then he asked unanimous consent that the bill be put on its passage, saying it was evident no opportunity would be afforded to amend the measure in the house. To this suggestion, however, Mr. Mann of Illinois objected.

Mr. Sims made the point of no return, but he quickly reconsidered and withdrew it.

"This reading of the bill means nothing," he said. "It is also perfectly evident that every member in the house is going to vote for it if no opportunity is given to vote for a bill perfected by desirable amendments or for a Democratic substitute. Therefore, if we are not to be permitted to amend this bill, I ask unanimous consent, in order to save time, that the committee rise and report the bill back to the house with the recommendation that it do pass."

Mann Prevents a Vote.

The chairman actually put the question, and the committee unquestionably would have risen but for an objection by Mr. Mann of Illinois, neither Chairman Payne nor any other member of the ways and means committee being present at the time. Mr. Mann said while Mr. Sims doubtless had been in the confidence of the committee in making up the bill and hence knew what it contained, there were a few who had not the opportunity of reading the bill or knowing what was in it except as they followed the clerk.

The senate was in session just eight minutes, adjourning at 12:08 p. m. until Monday.

The census bill was received from the house and referred to committee, and George T. Oliver of Pennsylvania was sworn in as senator. The house also adjourned to Monday.

CIVIC FEDERATION IN UNIFORM LAW FIGHT

Want Important Statutes of All States
the Same—Will Hold National Conference.

New York, Mar. 20.—The executive council of the National Civic Federation has decided to have a national conference for the consideration of uniform legislation in all the states upon important economic, civil, industrial and commercial measures.

The committee, of which John Hays Hammond is chairman, and whose members include Alton B. Parker, Myron T. Herrick, Seth Low, August Belmont, Samuel Gomper, John Mitchell and Marcus H. Marks fully discussed the paramount importance of the movement.

It was unanimously resolved to call a national conference, and in furtherance of this object it was resolved that the governor of each state should be invited to appoint a delegation to attend the conference, of which he should be the chairman, and that commercial, manufacturing, economic, labor, agricultural and other organizations also should be invited to participate.

President Seth Low of the National Civic Federation was requested to select a sub-committee to have charge of the arrangements, including the selection of the time and place for holding such a conference. Washington, Baltimore, New York and Chicago were suggested.

CULLUM IN HOPKINS PLACE.

Senior Illinois Senator Assigned to Senate's Finance Committee.

Washington, Mar. 20.—Senator Cullum's acceptance of former Senator Hopkins' seat in the finance committee, formally barred the latter from all possibility of returning to that committee even should he secure re-election.

Senator Cullum will give up his seat on the appropriations committee to take the place vacated by Senator Hopkins. Before accepting the new post he made an informal attempt to induce Senator Aldrich and the senate leaders to give him the post as a temporary assignment and reserve it for Hopkins. This they refused, and his acceptance is a permanent one. He took the post with great reluctance because of the work it will have on the tariff. The senate leaders, however, pointed out to him that he owed this duty to Illinois and the middle west.

CLEAR DISAPPEARANCE CASE.

Suit to Recover Man's Insurance Develops He Still Lives.

Kansas City, Mo., Mar. 20.—In the midst of the trial of a suit brought by Mrs. Lavin P. Frazier against the Modern Woodmen of America for $2,000, alleged to be due because her husband was legally dead, Miss Nellie Frazier, a sister of Frazier, took the stand and testified that her brother was alive and well in Chicago.

The attorneys for Mrs. Frazier were taken aback and asked the court to dismiss the suit. Mrs. Frazier began the action against the insurance company because she had not heard from her husband in 11 years and believed him dead.

Lavin P. Frazier, according to his sister, is a member of the firm of L. P. Frazier, interior decorators, Chicago. Frazier left his wife in 1898 and nothing was heard of him by her.

JAIL BRIDEGROOM CONVICTED.

Eau Claire Man Must Go to Penitentiary for Robbery.

Eau Claire, Wis., Mar. 20.—The jury, after being out for 26 hours, returned a verdict of guilty in the case of the state against Frank Latour, aged 23 years, charged with highway robbery.

Interest was aroused because this was the second trial and also because of the fact that Latour, who has been in jail since last August, was married in jail last fall to a young girl who has stood by him. He was formerly coachman for Mrs. R. M. Hurdick, leader in society and women's club circles, who went on the witness stand at this trial and testified to his good character and in leaving the witness stand, turned to the jury and said emphatically: "This jury is too intelligent to sentence a man for child's play."

CROWE TO HUNT MISSING BOY

Cudahy Kidnapers May Sock
Young Whittle.

CLEW FOUND IN CLEVELAND

Uncle of Lad Abducted at Sharon, Pa., Goes to Ohio City—Says He Will Spend $100,000 to Find Nephew.

Chicago, Mar. 20.—Mrs. Peter Crowe wants her husband, the notorious kidnaper of Edward Cudahy, to join in the search for Willie Whittle, the eight-year-old boy who was stolen at Sharon, Pa., and is held for $10,000 ransom. In this way, she says, Crowe will repay the debt he owes society for his abduction of the millionaire packer's son.

Agents of the boy's parents were communicated with by Mrs. Crowe in the belief that her husband can give material aid in running down the criminals and restoring the child.

Mrs. Crowe Takes Action.
When Mrs. Crowe read of the Pennsylvania kidnapping she believed she saw there an opportunity for her husband to act.

The reformed criminal is now in Pontiac arranging lectures, but his wife reached him by telephone. His wife asserts that Crowe would be of aid in this case through deductions drawn from his own experience.

"Pat is anxious to do something to atone for his own deeds," said Mrs. Crowe, "and in this Pennsylvania case I see an opportunity for him. I am sure he will be anxious to aid in running down the kidnappers."

Mrs. Crowe assumed the responsibility of offering her husband's aid.

Calls Death Threats false.

"These threats of death to the boy unless the money is paid over are idle," said Mrs. Crowe. "The kidnappers will not care to add murder to their already serious crime when it could do no good. Of course, it is their game to make the parents believe that they would kill the boy unless their demands were complied with."

The Chicago police were requested in a telegram from the chief of police of Sharon to assist in the search for the boy. Capt. P. D. O'Brien, head of the detective bureau, detailed half a dozen detectives to watch local railroad terminals.

Millionaire Uncle Seeks Cleveland.

Cleveland, O., Mar. 20.—Frank H. Buhl, millionaire uncle of William Whittle, the kidnapped "Sharon" boy, aided by a score of detectives, is scouring Cleveland for the child.

Early last night the police arrested Henry Ball, a porter in a local restaurant who said he had met a friend in the street who had a boy with him. The friend, he said, had asked him to take the boy to a business place near the Erie depot and he would be met there by the child's father. Ball declared he failed to meet the supposed father of the boy and then took the child to the Hotel Newway. Search at the hotel failed to locate the boy.

After hearing Ball's story Mr. Buhl insisted that all the hotels in the city be searched.

"I must restore the boy to his parents if it takes every cent I have," declared the millionaire. "I believe Ball's story and it must be followed up at once."

"I do not know that this boy is my nephew, but we must not lose any chance to find him. Why the kidnappers do not claim the $10,000 ransom which we are willing to pay, I do not understand."

Statement by Boy's Father.

Sharon, Pa., Mar. 20.—A friend of Mr. Whittle, the father of the missing boy last night gave out the following: "Nothing new has developed during the day. Last night about five o'clock the rig in which the men carried the boy away was found in front of a livery stable in Warren, O. Where the party left the buggy is not known as no one saw them in it at this point. The buggy contained a new cap which had apparently had not been worn. It was not the cap of young Whittle as first reported. The police in the near cities and towns were promptly set to work, yet Mr. Whittle is not pushing matters vigorously, his great wish being to get his boy back. He is hoping that the parties having the boy in custody will at once open negotiations for his speedy return."

Mr. Whittle entirely discredits the report from Cleveland that the boy being traced there is his son. He asked that police and other officers generally be requested to continue the search for the missing lad. Word has come from Philadelphia that an Italian woman having in charge a boy answering the kidnapped lad's description left a train in that city.

Three hundred persons, mostly women, employed in the building were gotten out safely. Michael Wagner, a chemist, was injured by the explosion.

Marshals Wound a Moonshiner.

Ozark, Ala., Mar. 20.—In a pitched battle between moonshiners and United States deputy marshals near Elmville, 15 miles from Ozark, yesterday, Herman Evans, who was found operating a still, was shot through the breast and dangerously wounded, and an associate, who took part in the battle, escaped.

PILLOW CASES Edging of Crocheted Lace Is Just Now the Feature

Pillow cases edged with old-fashioned crocheted lace are taking the place, to some extent, of the hem-stitched finish. When the lace is made of fairly strong thread and the pattern a substantial one the edging will outwear the linen or muslin cover. An effective two-inch edging is made in the following way, beginning with a row of wheels which form the center pattern of the trimming: Take medium size cotton thread, which comes especially for this purpose, and make rings by winding the cotton 15 times around a large wooden knitting needle or pencil, then crochet 28 double stitches in the ring; join and make three chains and crochet a treble chain into each of the ring double crochets; then crochet six chains and catch the sixth with a double crochet stitch into the second treble stitch; continue this around the ring.

This makes 14 chain loops around each ring. After a sufficient number of wheels are made in this manner they should be joined together by fastening the middle stitch of each of two chain loops to two adjacent loops of another wheel, and so on. This will leave four chain loops of each wheel attached to other wheels and ten chain loops loose.

Now when a yard and a half or more of the wheels are joined together, enough to trim the edge of a pillow case, fasten the thread into the fourth loop from the end and make three chains and a double chain into the next chain loop, five chains and one treble chain into the next chain loop, one long treble chain (putting the thread twice over the needle) into the next, one triple chain (three times over the needle) into the two chains joining the two wheels; then one long chain into the first chain loop on the next wheel and one treble into the next loop. Three chains and a double crochet into the next loop and three chains and a double crochet into the next bring the thread to the top again.

This makes the top of the edging almost straight. Then comes a row of double crochets, with two chains between, a row above this of two treble crochets into the space between the divisions of the previous row, then two treble crochets and miss one for the next row and the top row is two treble crochets into each space of that row.

For the edge make two double chains, four chains and two double chains into the first space, then two double chains, four chains and two double chains into the next space, and so on around the scallops joining the wheels.

New Hair Ornaments.

To be worn with the new spangled robes and the fine messaline, chiffon and soft satin gowns are beautiful hair ornaments in odd shapes. Many are gauze butterflies covered with sparkling, which nestle on the hair and glitter under the electric lights. They come in bronze, steel, silver and gold effects and often match the tint of the gown.

ADMIRAL LORD CHARLES BERESFORD AND FOUR OF HIS SPLENDID BATTLESHIP BREED OF BULL DOGS.

Lord Charles Beresford will next month vacate the post of commander-in-chief of the channel fleet of the English navy. The change has caused much comment and curiosity and people are asking whether it is a case of resignation or dismissal, for Lord Charles has still two years to run as an admiral before the compulsory age clause will necessitate his retirement and were he promoted to the rank of admiral of the fleet his period of service might be still further extended. It is probable that a seat will be found for him in the house of commons, so that the English parliament may be given the benefit of his views and experience in naval affairs.

Lord Beresford on shore is usually accompanied by some of his famous battleship-bred bull-dogs that have been bred and raised on board the battleships which Lord Charles has for years commanded.

E-M-F CAR

at $1250 is $300.00 better proposition than any other car offered in competition of this class of cars. By reason of full lamp equipment, gas lamps and generator and magneto being furnished; this will pay all of the motoring expense for gasoline and oil for at least 3 seasons. The depreciation at the end of 3 seasons would be far less on this car. This is not only a luxury to be had at reasonable price, but is a business proposition besides.

—THE— WOMEN FOLKS

They have work, worries and troubles of their own—make it easy for them.

You can help by getting a supply of Solvay for household use. It is clean—easy to handle—ignites quickly, and lasts long—creates no dust—makes no smoke. This is why the women like it—it saves them work.

It is cheaper than hard coal.

SOLVAY

While it is as easy to ignite as soft coal, Solvay makes a lasting fire.

It contains little sulphur or slate—does not clinker, and leaves no ashes to sift—it warms the house in a few moments.

It contains all of the good qualities of all of the known fuels and none of the bad ones—because its patented process of manufacture eliminates practically everything but the element that makes heat.

Your fuel bill will be reduced 20%—at the same time your heat returns will be larger than ever before—if you become a user of Solvay.

WE PRESENT FOR PUBLIC CONSIDERATION THE MERITS OF THE Standard Hollow Concrete Building Block

Knowing that we have a concrete block of greater merit than any other block in the state.

ANY MAN INTERESTED IN BUILDING will fully agree with us if he will weigh the following statements in an unbiased manner. We believe in a statement of actual fact. We will therefore not overstate in any particular.

Size The size of our block gives an advantage over the larger block, in the laying of them, they being 8x8x24, weighing but 85 pounds and a mason can lay them without the assistance of a helper, while what is generally known as a "nine inch" block weighs 140 pounds and requires two men to lay them with any degree of speed and accuracy. Men can work faster with the Standard block.

Will Not Turn White One of the great troubles with the porous blocks is that they turn white almost every time it rains. This spoils the beauty of a house. It is due to the block being porous. The face of the Standard block contains a waterproofing compound, which prevents it from turning white, the merits of which are explained in another paragraph. Our blocks are not porous.

Face The face of our blocks is far superior to that of other blocks, as it is made with the face down, allowing us to use special material for the face. We use a fine grade of sand for the face, using 3 parts of sand, one part cement and 2% waterproofing compound. With this material in a semi-wet mix we make the face of the block non-porous. It is the face of the block that must stand the wear and upon which depends the beauty of the structure. There is no other block made with a waterproofing compound and no other block made with a fine finished face.

Material For Body of Block Our block is made of four parts graded gravel, graded up to one inch in size, three parts coarse sand and one part cement. This is the specifications adopted by the National Association of Block Manufacturers and considered to be the best by every authority on the subject. We know that this is a much better grade of block than others in this city are putting out. You will not find any large stones showing in the face of our blocks, neither will you find any cracked blocks in the buildings which we have furnished with our blocks.

Appearance of Blocks We make blocks that resemble the Waukesha and Wauwatosa stone so closely that at a distance of 20 ft. it takes an expert to detect any difference. We will make them for you in either bold rock face, medium rock face or smooth rock face, with smooth bevel face or tool face. If you want a red stone we can furnish that also. We make ornamental spheres, porch spindles, porch columns, etc.

Cost The cost of our blocks is 1c per running inch. This gives a wall eight inches thick, at a smaller cost than if you used the best local brick, and as durable as the best and most expensive brick on the market. This block lends itself beautifully to architectural designing.

To Sum Up Our blocks are the only blocks in which there is used in the face a waterproofing compound; it is the only block that is made with the face down, and has a fine sand face, is non-porous and waterproof. It will not turn white; contains better material than other blocks made in Janesville or vicinity; has better appearance, and costs less per running foot.

Information If you are going to need Concrete Building Blocks write or call for further information. Estimates will be furnished on all work on request.

FREEPORT TEAM
WON LOVING CUP

GIVEN BY DELOIT COLLEGE FOR BEST DEBATING TEAM.

JANESVILLE'S ARGUMENTS

Were Defeated But Made Excellent Showing, Doing Much Credit to Their School—Janesville Won Basketball Game.

Janesville has reason to be justly proud of the young gentlemen who represented the high school in the interstate debate held at Deloit under the auspices of the college last evening despite the fact the honors of the evening were awarded to the Freeport school team.

The debate was on the interesting question of the enlargement of the United States navy by three battleships or their equivalent for the next ten years the Janesville team having the affirmative side of the debate.

The members of the Freeport team were older in years than their Janesville opponents and had had two debates in which to train their powers, having defeated both Elgin and Aurora in previous contests while Janesville had but one victory, that over Deloit, the other two contestants in the state, La Crosse and Sparta, not debating.

The Janesville boys had been trained by Professor L. P. Rahr and showed the result of weeks of careful work. Their debate was arranged in a logical manner and well given and the fact that Professor R. L. Lyman, of the state university, the only expert on speaking of the three judges, favored the Janesville team, shows the admirable work they did.

The Freeport team were really men and had had careful training under the direction of the attorney-general of Illinois and the experience of two debates to give them confidence in their ability to handle the question in hand, having debated both sides of the same question in their previous debates.

The debate was held in the chapel of Deloit college at eight o'clock, President of Deloit college, presiding, Prof.
R. L. Lyman of Madison, Prof. E. N.
Smith of Deloit college, and R. N.
Wray acting as judges. This was the first debate held under the association formed by the college of freeport, Illinois high schools and four from Wisconsin, the winners to meet in Deloit for the final joint debate.

One hundred and fifty enthusiasts from Janesville attended the basketball game in the afternoon which was won by Janesville by a score of 28 to 20, and enjoyed the cafeteria supper served by the Deloit college authorities in the college gymnasium at six o'clock and cheered their debaters by their presence later at the college chapel. The Freeport contingent numbered nearly three hundred.

The debate was the interesting clinimax to the evening. Freeport was on the defensive from the opening, preferring rather to disprove the statements of the Janesville debaters than to advance new arguments themselves. Their delivery was better and they had more stage presence than did their local opponents but Janesville had by far the best arranged line of argument.

One Janesville speaker followed another, bringing the line of thought to a unit. Yalin acted as leader for Janesville and was followed by Hyde and McGowan, then closed the debate for his side in a strong manner. His delivery was excellent and he was ably assisted by his two team mates.

Donald Brown was Freeport's leader and by far the best speaker. Carl Schaeffer and Alfred Wagner were the other two members of the Illinois city team, both doing good work and showing careful training.

Before the debate opened the two school yells were given with a will and when the decision of the judges was announced Freeport went wild with enthusiasm. A handsome silver loving cup was presented to the team by Professor Kennedy of Deloit and each individual debater received a watch fob.

In basketball, however, Janesville carried off the honors, playing a fine game and winning by two points.
Thirty-two minutes was the final score. Throughout the game the Janesville players demonstrated their superiority in team work and in guarding, although their opponents had a little the better of them in weight. The first basket was secured almost in the first minute of play by the Freeport players, but Janesville gained on them and at the end of the first half was two points ahead, the score being 18 to 16.

In the last half Freeport seemed to be getting a little the better of it, but in a general scrimmage in the last minutes of play, Janesville made up her losses and beat her opponents, besides exciting their opponents in team work the Janesville team had a little the best of them in throwing to the basket. On free throw and foul they located the goal twelve times to Freeport's seven.

More fouls were called on Janesville than on Freeport, but the game was very close throughout the entire time of playing. For the Janesville team six goals were secured by Murphy, three each by Robertson and Fifield, and Merrill and Green each two.

The officials of the game were Johnson, of Deloit college, and Rathburn, of Deloit Y. M. C. A.
The line-up of the two teams was as follows: Janesville—Murphy and Fifield, forwards; Robertson, center;
Green and Merrill, guards. Freeport—Hoyman and Dalloy, forwards;
Yardley, center; Rice and Cooper, guards.

Just after the game, one of the Freeport boys, Walter Young, fell while using the flying rings and dislocated an elbow and broke the arm near the elbow joint. An ambulance was called and he was taken to the emergency hospital where medical care was given him. His pluck and courage were greatly admired by all who saw the accident, for immediately after, he got up and smiled and then started to walk down the steps to the ambulance.

ROCK RIVER SURVEY
PLEASES BOAT CLUB

Janesville Boat Club Sees Chance for Long, Desired Navigable Channel to Madison.

Members of the Janesville Boat club are much pleased by the promptitude with which the government is carrying out the plans for surveying the Rock River from Sterling to Janesville for the purpose of making it a navigable stream, and of making a four-foot channel from Janesville to Madison. The latter project has long been a cherished dream of the local club, and they have done more than their share toward making the Rock river navigable for pleasure boats from the city north. By voluntary subscription they have succeeded in clearing the stream of snags and rocks up to within about three quarters of a mile of Indian Ford. Here they have installed a means of transporting boats to the other side of the dam.

The club, which has about sixty members, has no established clubhouse but is more for the purpose of securing organized work and protection. Most of the summer cottages are between four and a half and five miles up the river, and for a long time received the particular attention of a gang of hoodlums, who broke into the buildings and in many ways destroyed the property. As many of the cottages are valuable, concerted action became necessary and the owners of launches and cottages banded together and offered a reward of $50 for the conviction of anyone found breaking into the buildings. When those who had been active in this sort of work found that they had to deal with a number of men who could afford to pursue them and bring them to justice, their operations ceased. From the idea of protection, the organization began to interest itself in improving the river and thus connected itself with the plan for a navigable waterway from Madison to Sterling, Ill. It may be years before the undertaking is carried to a successful conclusion, but the members of the club will have the satisfaction of knowing that they had no inconsiderable share in launching the scheme.

CONVINCED
Woman's Interesting Experience.

A Mid. woman tells how she was convinced in regard to a matter of vital importance. She says:
"Before I used Grape-Nuts I was almost a physical wreck. I suffered nearly agonies from indigestion, could not sleep at night, was on the verge of nervous prostration.
"I finally purchased a pkg. of Grape-Nuts, and the one pkg. convinced me it was just what I needed.
I gradually grew better as I continued to eat the food and my life vanished.
"I can now sleep soundly every night, going to sleep as soon as I retire. I never have dyspepsia any more.
"Too much cannot be said in favor of Grape-Nuts as a brain food for school children—makes them rosy and active.
"It is just the kind of food one needs for that tired feeling, and produces a reserve force and energy which lasts."
"There's a Reason."

PEDESTRIAN ON A
FIFTY-DAY JAUNT

Harry Moller, Who is Walking from Kansas City to Milwaukee, Will Reach Janesville Wednesday.

Janesville long-distance walkers, who seem to have been hibernating during the past winter, will probably be out in force to size up Harry Moller, the Milwaukeean who started on a thousand-mile, fifty-day jaunt from Kansas City to the Wisconsin metropolis on Feb. 8 and who is expected to arrive here next Wednesday.

Moller undertook the journey on a wager that he could start out without a cent, make his way, complete the trip within the time limit, and arrive in the Green City with a dollar for each day out. He reached Fairley, Nebraska, on Feb. 16; Lincoln, Neb., on Feb. 20; Omaha on Feb. 23; Des Moines on March 2; Davenport on March 11; Rock Island on March 12; Moline, Ill., on March 15; and Rechekford yesterday. He expects to reach Rockford on Monday, the 22nd; Deloit on Tuesday, Janesville on Wednesday; Milton on Thursday; Whitewater on Friday, March 26; and his final destination by midnight of the 29th.

His route much of the way has been along the railroad tracks and in his letter to the Gazette and other newspapers in this section, he states that he has worn out a pair of rubber boots and a pair of shoes and has the second pair of shoes on his second pair of shoes. He was permitted to wear nothing warmer than a derby hat, cravat, and clean cotton gloves, and has encountered much severe weather and some very hard roads. By working in a restaurant and peddling he earned enough to have his picture and story printed on some souvenir post-cards and newspaper publicity has created a good market for them.

The LAST VOYAGE of the DONNA ISABEL

It was McKnight who was playing the antics of a ghost on board; McKnight who had discovered that unusual passageway through the bulkheads; McKnight who had conceived the idea that in this manner he could frighten us into turning back. Well, truly, I did not altogether blame the man, and now that my own fear of the supernatural was allayed, did not feel any desire to punish him severely. Still, his masquerade must stop before he thoroughly demoralized the crew, frightening them beyond all my power of control.

I discovered the door concealed behind the donkey engine, left it slightly ajar behind me, and stepped forward into the black passage. I had groped along to the very foot of the ladder, feeling nothing but bare walls, and hearing no sound except the splash of bilge water, when suddenly an inarticulate cry sounded almost directly above; something, a hatch cover possibly, seemed to settle into place, and the ladder shook under my hand. I drew back a step, permitting the follow to come down until he reached the floor. My eyes, accustomed to the gloom, enabled me to dimly perceive his shape. It was no more than a formless amorphous he made, but I struck straight for what seemed to be the head, and landed with a force that dropped him like a log. In an instant I was on top, clamping the canvas sheet he wore tightly about his arms, and throttling him against the deck. He fought like a wild bull for a moment, thoroughly frightened and whimpering, dazed by the suddenness of attack, yet following the animal instinct of a struggle for life.

"Damn you, McKnight, lie still!" I panted. "I've got you, and you might just as well take your medicine, my man. Yes, that's a gun you feel, and I know how to use it. So you're the ghost of the Sea Queen, are you? I guess you know what this means if I turn you over to those fellows down there?"

He groaned, and I ventured to release my grip on his throat, flinging back the canvas from his head.

"Sit up, Will, I'll tell you, McKnight—you would probably go overboard to feed the fishes. Do you recognize me?"

"Yes, sir," managing to find his voice for the first time. "You're Mr. Stephens."

"Right you are, and you can blow your lucky stars that I am the one who caught you. What started you at this trick?"

"It was the Chieftan, sir, Sanchez; he said we could scare the whole outfit."

"Did he do any of the ghost playing?"

"No, sir; he didn't have the nerve, but—he rigged me up, and found out about those passageways."

"What was I to do with the man? In truth there was little I dared to do under the circumstances."

"Now see here, McKnight," I said, soberly, "you quit this thing for good and all; if there is any more ghost walking done on the Sea Queen I'll turn you and Sanchez over to the men. Besides, there's no use resorting again to that sort of trick, for we're about at the end of our cruise."

"You mean we're going to turn north?"

"Yes. Now if I let you go will you behave yourself?"

He promised with an eager earnestness that went far toward convincing me I had not only conquered the man, but won his friendship as well.

"Then wait here, McKnight, until I can pass back alone through the engine room. In ten minutes you slip through, and let this end it. Shake hands, my man."

He gave me a grip I felt, and so I left him, a mere shadow in the black passage.

Lady Darlington stood within the door of her cabin waiting for me, her face brightening as I emerged through the pantry door.

"Who was it?"

"McKnight; I caught him in the very act, but shall keep it from the crew. There will be no repetition of this affair, I am sure, for now we are homeward bound."

How quickly her gray eyes lighted up, her hands instantly clasping mine.

"Homeward bound, Mr. Stephens! Have we already attained the spot sought in this sea? Was there nothing discovered there as a reward for all this long voyage?"

"No, we are not yet there, but I have determined upon turning back. I can not take you any farther into danger."

"But why? why? Is the peril so terribly desperate? How much farther south must we go?"

"With fair luck, the wind holding as it is, we might attain the position to-morrow. 'Tis not a long run; but, Lady Darlington, I am afraid to risk it. The slightest slant of wind will bring the ice crashing down upon us. We are under Damocles' sword, suspended by a hair. 'Tis in the beginning of winter in these latitudes—of fierce gales from the south sweeping across leagues of frozen waters. We have been wonderfully fortunate thus far, yet, a single day, ay, a single hour, might seal our fate, hemming us in beyond any possibility of escape. I might take the chance if we were all mere adventurers on board, but I dare not trifle any longer with your life."

She stood away slightly, her hands now grasping the top of the piano, her lips white and motionless. I could plainly distinguish her rapid breathing. Suddenly her expression of doubt changed.

"I am not that kind of a coward, Mr. Stephens. You—you owe it to those men to push on, now we are so near their goal. You have pledged them your word, and—and I want you to keep it."

The companion-ladder slid back, and a man came heavily down the steps. As he caught sight of us he pulled off his cap awkwardly.

"Mr. De Nova sent me to call you, sir," he said. "It's four bells."

CHAPTER XIX.

In Which We Attain 88° 17' South.

When morning arrived the Sea Queen was plunging through an angry sea, in the midst of a raging snow storm which effectually concealed all our immediate surroundings. With vivid remembrance of those vast ice fields lying off our starboard quarter, and the certainty that numerous bergs were drifting not far ahead, we were compelled to slow down our engines, feeling a way cautiously through the white fog. The ice-cakes buffeting our bows, and scraping along the sides, were a constant menace, requiring men to fend them off so as to keep rudder and screw unobscured; the mainsail had broken loose from its gaskets, and frozen stiff as the heavy canvas was, proved difficult to secure; while the ice on our forward deck had accumulated to such a thickness as to be weighing us down by the head, and had to be chipped loose and flung overboard in great blocks.

It was not far from noon when the heavy snow-clouds broke and went scurrying away like a flock of birds, leaving the wide sweep of waters clear to our view, with a yellow sun hanging cold in the pale blue of the sky.

I hardly knew where we were, not feeling at all certain about the extent of our drift during the past 24 hours, and so hastily brought my instruments on deck and what the sun, stepping in to the chart house to figure out our position. The result sent a sudden thrill of exultation through me.

"We have attained the spot!" I exclaimed, as I glanced up, and saw her gazing in at me through the open door. "Now we will ascertain the truth of Tattio's vision."

"The spot? Do you mean this is the point of sea we have been seeking?"

"Ay! and now, thank God! we can head the other way."

I sprang eagerly past her, clinging to a life-line so as to keep my feet on the deck, too thoroughly excited by my discovery to remain any longer in idleness.

"Johnson, run below, and call Mr. De Nova. Have him turn out at once."

I watched the fellow slide to the companion, and made my own way to the bridge, sweeping my glasses anxiously about the clearing horizon. Within a minute De Nova had joined me, his eyes still heavy from sleep.

"Mr. De Nova," I said, rapidly, my gloved hand sweeping a semicircle in front, "I have just taken an observation, and this is latitude 88° 17' south and longitude 119° 20' west. Send your sharpest-eyed lookout to the foretopmast yard with these glasses. Then call all hands."

He went down the bridge stairs as though shot from a gun, and a moment later a young seaman named Symes was swiftly feeling the rail-lines, their coating of ice breaking under his tread and rattling on the deck below. The men awaried out from the forecabin and up the main hatch, raising themselves about the foot of the foremast, watching me eagerly, and occasionally peering up at Symes, now well above the cross-trees.

"Lads," I cried, bending over the rail of the bridge, and staring down into their upturned faces. "I've just figured out our position, and this is the spot we've been hunting after in these seas. I've sent Symes aloft to look out for Tattio's island. If there's any land in sight, well and good; we'll have a try for looting the Donna Isabel of those Spanish pesos. But if not, then we'll call it a wild goose chase, and the Sea Queen points her nose north."

There was a faint, half-hearted attempt at a cheer, which ended in a muttering of oaths and a shuffling of feet on the icy planks. The glances of the fellows turned upward toward Symes, now accurately posted on the foretopmast yard, the glasses to his eyes. One or two among them, including Anderson, clambered to the top of the forecabin where they could see ahead.

"How the hell," the latter yelled suddenly from that point of vantage, "do you know this is the place, and that you ain't foolin' us just to get back?"

The crowd turned their eyes on me, and I heard a growl of approval.

"Principally because I say so, Anderson. The chart, with our course picked on it day by day, is yonder in the chart-house. And my figures are there also for this day's reckoning."

"But we don't any of us know any thing about that!"

"True enough, but there happens to be one on board who can figure it out for you if you doubt my word. Lady Darlington can do it."

The rising medley of growling voices ceased almost instantly, and if I had felt any question as to what her ladyship would do it was immediately silenced. She slipped to the rail of the stairs, her head thrown back, her hair blowing in the wind.

"I believe thoroughly in Mr. Stephens," she said, clearly, "but it is true that I know something of navigation, and if you really doubt his statement I will figure it out for you."

"Now you hear that, lads," my voice ringing out stern over the hubbub. "You'll believe this lady if her results are the same as mine. Now stop your growling."

I followed my hands for a hall aloft.

"What do you pick up, Symes?"

His words came back in a thread of sound as he looked down upon us from his bobbing perch.

"Not very much, sir, except water. There's a holl of a bit hole of ice out yonder," pointing with one hand, the other gripping the spar, "but it's mostly flat, an' all glacial with snow. There's maybe a dozen bergs ahead an' off the port quarter, mostly medium size, but with the devil of a big follow a point or so to the north."

"Any land?"

"Not a sign, sir, unless that's it I take for a big berg. The shadows look dark enough for rock."

"Ease her off two points, wheelman."

"Two points it is, sir."

We stood there, silent and motionless, waiting anxiously, the men ranged along the rail, with their eyes all turned forward. I rang for full speed, and the Sea Queen fairly leaped ahead through the icy smoothness, flinging clouds of white spray over the heedless figures. Within ten minutes we began to perceive the huge mass, and never before had my eyes looked upon so gigantic and majestic a mountain of ice. It was one immense cliff towering into the upper air, being fully 300 feet high, and not less than 1,200 feet in length, with vast glittering pinnacles rising still farther into the sky, its entire front a sheer precipice, gleaming in cold blue, with hardly a darker shadow anywhere to yield relief to the eye.

We rounded its eastern edge so closely one could have tossed a biscuit from the foremast against its smooth front, the swell of its motion tossing the darling yacht like an eggshell. Symes, clinging to his perch aloft with the grip of a monkey, swinging back and forth to the wild swaying of the spar. Suddenly he yelled down:

"There's wind comin' from the south-west, sir."

"Heavy?"

"Looks to be a stiff breeze, an' it's bringin' more snow."

manufacture and is possessed of improvements not found in any other machine.

All 1909 Indians are equipped with a new hand brake, the ordinary coaster brake being considered unsafe on machines capable of developing such great speed. The hand brake is larger and stronger than heretofore and is built in the same manner as that of the automobile. It is instantly adjusted from the outside.

The "Indian" holds all speed records from 1 to 100 miles having scores of trophies won in speed and endurance contests in all parts of the world. It has proven itself the best machine for every purpose.

MINERS' BOARD CALLED BY PRESIDENT LEWIS

Members of Executive Body to Prepare for Possible Strike in Anthracite Fields.

Indianapolis, Ind., Mar. 20.—President Lewis of the United Mine Workers of America has ordered the national executive board to convene in Indianapolis on next Thursday.

A convention of the anthracite miners is to be held in Scranton, Pa., on Tuesday next and it is expected that the executive board will discuss the anthracite troubles.

Mr. Lewis said statements had been made in some of the eastern newspapers that he probably would not attend the Scranton convention. "On the contrary," he said, "I shall be there and shall also be back in Indianapolis in time to meet with the executive board on Thursday."

At the meeting of the executive board the conditions in Nova Scotia, where the United Mine Workers have recently organized 6,000 men, will also be taken up. In regard to the Scranton convention President Lewis said:

"The tri-district convention of the anthracite United Mine Workers of America to be held at Scranton next Tuesday will be the most important convention held in that section of the country in the last three years. This convention will adopt a policy to govern the anthracite mining region after April 1."

"The anthracite operators are mistaken when they say that the bituminous miners dominate the anthracite men, since the anthracite workers and they alone will be represented in the Scranton convention. We expect intelligently to meet any issue and fix the responsibility on the operators for any failure to reach an agreement governing wage conditions in the anthracite mining country."

"BOOZE" CURE IN VEGETABLES.

Appetite for Liquor Increased by Meat, Says Physician.

Washington, Mar. 20.—"If you have a strong appetite for king alcohol and tobacco and want to be cured of the habit, just eat a vegetable diet for six months."

This was the advice given by Dr. D. H. Kross of this city in an address entitled "Dyspepsia and its Relation to Inebriety" before the American Society for the Study of Alcohol and Other Drug Narcotics. He discussed the evil effects of an excessive diet and declared that over-eating leads to drunkenness. "If you would not become a drunkard," said Dr. Kross, "then quit eating meat."

Other speakers were: W. P. Sprague of Baltimore on "Alcohol as a Cause of Epilepsy," and G. O. Webster of Chicago on "Alcohol and Public Health."

Nashville, Tenn., Mar. 20.—

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, March 20, 1869.—Alarm of Fire.—There was a general alarm of fire about nine o'clock last evening, emanating from the confectionary store of Mr. Charles Baker on the corner of Milwaukee and Franklin streets. The fire, we understand, originated in a box standing on a shelf near a stove pipe, but was suppressed before any special damage was done.

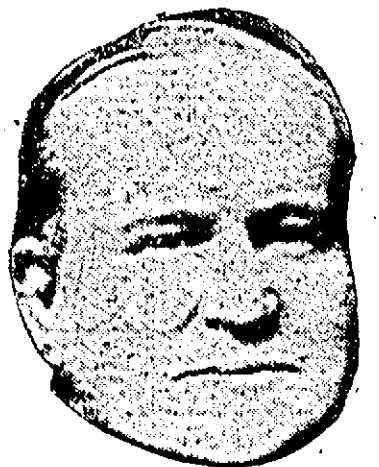

Afflicted.—The family of a Mr. West living three miles north of this city, has been sorely afflicted in the loss by death of two children, one of whom died on Thursday last and the other on Friday. A third one is not expected to live. The children were aged respectively about four, six and two years. Measles, combined with whooping cough and inflammation of the bowels were the complaints which attacked the little ones.

The Last Lecture.—The last lecture of the course before the Young Men's Association will be delivered on next Wednesday evening at Layman's Hall by the Rev. M. G. Hooge, D. D., of this city, and that fact recommends the ability of the speaker to entertain and instruct an audience. We confidently expect to see a full house on the occasion of the lecture.

Entirely Correct.—We have heard some questions raised as to the validity of the charter amendment making a line between the second and third wards, inasmuch as the boundaries of the Third Ward were not given. But an examination of the city charter will demonstrate that the amendment is all right and the boundaries sufficiently defined.

Ku-Klux Klan.—A gang of Ku-Klux entered the residence of a Union man named Brown, near Nicholasville, Ky., on Wednesday morning. It is supposed for the purpose of murdering him.

Brown, armed with a gun and revolver, met them on the stairs, and firing, killed Law Roberts, a prominent citizen of Woodford county. The gang fled, leaving Roberts' body, which, when stripped of the disguise, created a sensation in the neighborhood, that one so respectable should be connected with such a murderous organization.

THE GREATEST CRIMINAL LAWYER WHO EVER SAT IN THE UNITED STATES SENATE.

It is a fact not generally known, but the United States senate has just received a new member from Kentucky who is probably the greatest criminal lawyer who ever entered the upper house of congress. Senator W. O'Connell Bradley, who was sworn in on March 3, has defended 107 men indicted for murder in the first degree, and 103 have been acquitted.

Cancer is Curable

I have a method of removing cancer which is absolutely painless. I use no knife or X-Ray, but a substance which cancer feeds upon. It will in no way injure the good flesh. If you are skeptical call at my office and I will prove to you that I do cure cancer. If you care to call I will give you references of the very best kind as to my personal character and financial stability. In my nineteen years of practice I have cured many cases of cancer and in not a single case has there been a recurrence. I will agree to refund every cent paid me in case of a recurrence. Mr. Butler had a very bad cancer on his hand. The following letter shows his appreciation of my work:

Dr. G. H. Webster, Janesville, Wis. Dear Doctor:—I suffered for some time with a cancer on my hand. I heard of your marvelous cures and decided to give you a trial, and I am happy to say that today I am entirely rid of the cancer. I can see no possible chance of a recurrence of the cancer, as the flesh is perfectly healthy where it was removed. I consider the price as nothing when I think of what you have done for me—possibly having saved my life. G. H. BUTLER, 920 Main Street, Janesville, Wis.

The above is one of many unsolicited endorsements and testimonials that I have on file in my office. During the treatment there is no pain or soreness. The patient can come or go, it need not interfere in any way with his daily work. Consultation and examination free. Write for a circular.

Don't Need Help. Four-year-old Helen wished to get into the play-room, but the gate (which had been put at the door to keep her baby brother in) was locked. She tried again and again to climb over it, when at last her mother heard her say: "Dear God, please help me to get over this gate." Just then she tumbled over, and said: "Never mind, I got over myself."—Harper's Weekly.

The Last Thing. "Now, my dear doctor, I want a little spiritual advice. You see, Mrs. Dolansey goes in for Scientific Pantheism. Mrs. Van Ciltner goes in for Swinburn, and Mrs. Simpkins for New Thought. Now, can't you tell me what is the very latest thing in religion?"—Harper's Weekly.

Of Richard Rumbold. "He never would believe that Providence had sent a few men into the world, ready hounded and spurred to ride, and millions ready-saddled and bridled to be ridden."—Mancunia.
